

REFORMATION WORSHIP

The Westminster morning service follows the classical pattern of the major Protestant Reformers as they sought to return Christian worship to the pattern and elements of the immediate post-Apostolic church. The service consists of four major parts—the acts of entrance, the ministry of the Word, the ministry of prayer and the acts of commitment. Not only does the practice of “classic” worship place the focus on Almighty God himself and his majesty—as opposed to human personalities and entertainment—but the “means of Grace” are central in the service.

THE LORD’S DAY AT WESTMINSTER

- 9:45 A.M. Sunday Bible School for the entire family
- 11:00 A.M. Morning Service
- 6:00 P.M. Revival Prayer

TONIGHT – REVIVAL PRAYER, AT THE CHURCH AT 6:00.

Revival prayer, as displayed by Daniel, Nehemiah, Anna and the Apostles.

MEMBERSHIP CLASS

The next membership class taught by the Pastor will be held in late August. Details to come in the next few weeks. If you are interested in taking the class, please see Mr. McGowan.

NOMINATING SEASON FOR OFFICERS

The Session, believing that there may be additional men qualified for the offices of ruling elder and deacon and that the church would benefit from additional officers, has established a season for nominations running from Lord’s Day, August 3 through Lord’s Day, August 31. Nominations may be submitted by church members to the Session in writing on forms that will be available on the literature table in the lobby. Elders and deacons must be male members who meet the requirements of I Timothy 3 and Titus 1.

THE MORNING SERVICE
eleven o’clock
Lord’s Day, July 6, 2025

Visitors will note that the Westminster morning service proceeds without announcement. Written direction is found in the bulletin for each component of the corporate expression of worship of the Almighty and Majestic Triune God. The service is planned in this manner so as to eliminate as much as possible interruptions of the flow of thought and expressions of reverent worship that is commensurate with the majesty of Almighty God. This worship begins with the prelude.

WHAT DOES “CORAM DEO” MEAN?

To live coram Deo is to live one’s entire life in the presence of God, under the authority of God, to the glory of God . . .

Recently a friend asked me . . . “What’s the big idea of the Christian life?” He was interested in the overarching, ultimate goal of the Christian life.

To answer his question, I fell back on the theologian’s prerogative and gave him a Latin term. I said, “The big idea of the Christian life is coram Deo. Coram Deo captures the essence of the Christian life.”

This phrase literally refers to something that takes place in the presence of, or before the face of, God. To live coram Deo is to live one’s entire life in the presence of God, under the authority of God, to the glory of God.

To live in the presence of God is to understand that whatever we are doing and wherever we are doing it, we are acting under the gaze of God. God is omnipresent. There is no place so remote that we can escape His penetrating gaze.

To be aware of the presence of God is also to be acutely aware of His sovereignty. The uniform experience of the saints is to recognize that if God is God, then He is indeed sovereign. When Saul was confronted by the refulgent glory of the risen Christ on the road to Damascus, his immediate question was, “Who is it, Lord?” He wasn’t sure who was speaking to him, but he knew that whomever it was, was certainly sovereign over him.

The Prelude – St. Patrick’s Breastplate Traditional Irish melody, arr. Hustad

The First Lesson – Psalm 37:1-7
Fret not yourself because of evildoers; be not envious of wrongdoers! For they will soon fade like the grass and wither like the green herb. Trust in the Lord, and do good; dwell in the land and befriend faithfulness. Delight yourself in the Lord, and he will give you the desires of your heart.
Commit your way to the Lord; trust in him, and he will act. He will bring forth your righteousness as the light, and your justice as the noonday. Be still before the Lord and wait patiently for him; fret not yourself over the one who prospers in his way, over the man who carries out evil devices! (ESV)

The Hymn No. 441 – “Jesus shall reign” Duke Street

The Invocation and the Lord’s Prayer
Our Father, who art in heaven; Hallowed be Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done; On earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts; As we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation; But deliver us from evil; For Thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. Amen.

The Response (Sung by all) Mendon
Come, dearest Lord, descend and dwell by faith and love in ev’ry breast; then shall we know and taste and feel the joys that cannot be expressed. Come, fill our hearts with inward strength; make our enlarged souls possess and learn the height, and breadth, and length of your unmeasurable grace. Now to the God whose pow’r can do more than our thoughts or wishes know, be everlasting honors done by all the church, through Christ his Son. ((by Isaac Watts, “father of English hymnody,” 1709)

+The Interlude – The Church’s One Foundation Samuel S. Wesley

The Ascription of Praise (Sung by all) Regent Square
Laud and honor to the Father, laud and honor to the Son, laud and honor to the Spirit, ever Three and ever One, Consubstantial, Co-eternal, while unending ages run. (anon., 6th or 7th century, tr. John M. Neale, 1861, alt., mod.)

The Apostles’ Creed
I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth;

And in Jesus Christ His only Son our Lord; Who was conceived by the Holy Ghost; Born of the Virgin Mary; Suffered under Pontius Pilate; Was crucified, dead, and buried; He descended into hell; The third day He rose again from the dead; He ascended into heaven; And sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty; From thence He shall come to judge the quick and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Ghost; The holy Catholic Church; The Communion of Saints; The Forgiveness of sins; The Resurrection of the body; And the Life everlasting. Amen.
(from the 2nd c.; the term “Catholic” is the Anglicization of the Latin for universal)

The Gloria Patri (Sung by all) Greatorex
Glory be to the Father, and to the Son, and to the Holy Ghost; As it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen, Amen. (2nd cent.)

The Law of God – The Ten Commandments (Unison)
You shall have no other gods before me.
You shall not make for yourself a carved image.
You shall not take the name of the LORD your God in vain.
Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy.
Honor your father and your mother.
You shall not murder.
You shall not commit adultery.
You shall not steal.
You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor.
You shall not covet. (Ex. 20:3-17, ESV)

The Response (Sung by all) Mendon
Confirm our will to do the right, And keep our hearts from envy's blight; let faith her eager fires renew, and hate the false, and love the true. All praise to God the Father be, all praise, eternal Son, to you, whom with the Spirit we adore forever and forevermore. (by Ambrose, Bishop of Milan)

The Second Lesson – Psalm 130 (Responsively)
Out of the depths I cry to you, O LORD!
O Lord, hear my voice! Let your ears be attentive to the voice of my pleas for mercy!
If you, O LORD, should mark iniquities, O Lord, who could stand?
But with you there is forgiveness, that you may be feared.
I wait for the LORD, my soul waits, and in his word I hope;
My soul waits for the Lord more than watchmen for the morning, more than watchmen for the morning
O Israel, hope in the LORD! For with the LORD there is steadfast love, and with him is plentiful redemption. And he will redeem Israel from all his iniquities. (ESV)

The Silent Prayers of God’s People

The Response (Sung by all) Hyfrydol
All my sins have been forgiven; God is merciful to me; faith has claimed the Savior’s promise, grace and pardon, full and free; O my soul, be ever praising for the great Redeemer’s love; joyous songs to him be raising, unto God in heav’n above. My account is closed forever; Jesus Christ has paid it all; shed his blood my sin to cover, paid the price to save my soul; there is now no condemnation, I am fully reconciled; what a wonderful salvation, for a sinner so defiled! (by Phillip F. Hiller, 1767)

The Westminster Confession of Faith - Chapter 26 - The Fellowship of God’s People
1. All believers are united to Jesus Christ, their head, by his Spirit and by faith, and have fellowship with him in his grace, suffering, death, resurrection, and glory. United to one another in love God’s people have fellowship in each other’s gifts and grace and are obliged to perform those public and private duties which nourish their mutual good, both spiritually and physically. (Jn. 1:16; Gal. 6:10; Eph. 2:4-6; 3:16-19; 4:11-16; Phil. 3:10; I Thess. 5:11, 14; I Jn. 1:3, 7; 3:16-18)
2. By their profession of faith believers are bound to maintain a holy fellowship and communion with each other in the worship of God and in the performance of other spiritual services for their mutual improvement. They are also bound to help each other in material things according to their different abilities and needs. This fellowship is to be offered, as God gives the opportunity, to everyone in every place who calls on the name of the Lord Jesus. (Acts 2:42, 44-46; 11:29-30; II Cor. 8-9; Heb. 10:24-25; I Jn. 3:16-18)
3. This communion that God’s people have with Christ in no way means that they share in his godhead or are equal with him in any respect—to affirm either is impious and blasphemous . . . (I Cor. 8:6; Col. 1:18-19; I Tim. 6:13-16; Heb. 1:8-9)

The Response (Sung by all, Hymn No. 347, vv. 1, 2) Aurelia
The church’s one foundation is Jesus Christ, her Lord; she is his new creation, by water and the Word: from heav’n he came and sought her to be his holy bride; with his own blood he bought her, and for her life he died. Elect from ev’ry nation, yet one o’er all the earth, her charter of salvation one Lord, one faith, one birth; one holy name she blesses, partakes one holy food, and to one hope she presses, with ev’ry grace endued. (by Samuel J. Stone, 1866)

The Response (Sung by all) Austrian Hymn
May the grace of Christ our Savior and the Father’s boundless love with the Holy Spirit’s favor, rest upon us from above. Thus may we abide in union with each other and the Lord, and possess, in sweet communion, joys which earth cannot afford. (by John Newton, author of “Amazing Grace!” and 279 other hymns, 1779)

THE CHRISTIAN FAMILY

The family is the oldest and most basic of human institutions (Gen. 1:27; 2:18, 21-24). In both the Israelite culture of the Old Testament and the Hellenistic culture of the New Testament, the household might consist of parents and children, relatives from several generations, servants, and even friends, depending on the economic resources of the head of the family. The Bible stresses its importance as a spiritual unit and a training ground for mature adult character.

The Bible pictures a clear authority structure within the family, whereby the husband is to lead the wife and the parents are to lead the children. But just as all leadership should be a form of ministry rather than tyranny, so these domestic leadership roles must be fulfilled in love (Eph. 5:22-6:4; Col. 3:18-21; 1 Pet. 3:1-7). The fourth commandment requires the head of the household to lead his family in sabbath observance; the fifth requires children to respect and submit to their parents (Ex. 20:8-12; Eph. 6:1-3). Jesus Himself set an example in this as a child (Lk. 2:51). Later, He fiercely opposed supposed gestures of piety that were really evasions of responsibility toward parents (Mk. 7:6-13), and His own last act before death was to provide for His mother’s future (Jn. 19:25-27).

The family is to be a community of teaching and learning about God and godliness. Children must be instructed (Gen. 18:18-19; Deut. 4:9; 6:6-8; 11:18-21; Prov. 22:6; Eph. 6:4) and encouraged to use that instruction as a basis for their lives (Prov. 1:8; 6:20). Discipline should be used as a means of corrective training to lead children beyond childish folly to self-controlled wisdom (Prov. 13:24; 19:18; 22:15; 23:13-14; 29:15-17).

HEAVEN

“Heaven” is the biblical term for God’s dwelling place (Ps. 33:13; Matt. 6:9), the place of His presence to where the glorified Christ has returned (Acts 1:11). The church militant and triumphant unites there for worship (Heb. 12:22-25), and one day Christ’s people will be there with Christ forever (John 17:5, 24; I Thess. 4:16-17). Heaven is the place of God’s rest (John 14:2). It is described as a city (Heb. 11:10) and a country (Heb. 11:16).

To think of heaven as a “place” is more right than wrong, though the word could mislead. Scripture describes heaven as a spatial reality that touches and interpenetrates created space. According to Ephesians, the throne of Christ at the Father’s right hand (Eph. 1:20), and the life of Christians in Christ, are both in “heavenly places” (Eph. 1:3, 20; 2:6). Paul alludes to his experience in the “third heaven” or “paradise” (II Cor. 12:2-3). A resurrection body, adapted to heaven’s life, awaits us (II Cor. 5:1-8). While we are in our present bodies the realities of heaven are unseen, and we know them only by faith (II Cor. 4:18; 5:7). The hope founded on what faith sees gives us the courage to endure (Rom. 8:25; cf. Gal. 5:5; I John 3:3).

We can form an idea of the perfect life of heaven from what we know imperfectly now (I Cor. 13:12). Our communion with God and with other Christians will be unbroken (Ps. 23:6). According to Revelation, there will be no tears, sorrow, or death (Rev. 21:4). According to Romans, the earth itself together with life on it has been “subjected to futility” on account of sin (Rom. 8:20). Through the Spirit, we know that this “corruption” will be undone, and the possibilities dimly perceived in the fallen creation will be fulfilled in “the freedom of the glory of the children of God” (Rom. 8:21).

According to the Shorter Catechism, we were created “to glorify God, and enjoy Him forever.” The crowns, feasts, and celebrations of victory described in the Scriptures bring one aspect of this joy before our eyes. The triumph of the Lamb that was slain and His saints with Him (Rev. 5:6; 14:1) is another. At the center is the union of God with His people (Rev. 22:4). This was held out as the promise of the covenant (Jer. 30:22) and it is destined to be realized in a way beyond imagination (Eph. 2:7; 3:9; cf. I Cor. 2:9).

HOPE

Biblical hope is a firm conviction that the future promises of God will be fulfilled. Hope is not mere wish projection, but an assurance of what will come to pass. “We have this as a sure and steadfast anchor of the soul, a hope that enters into the inner place behind the curtain” (Hebrews 6:13).

Hope takes its place alongside faith and love as one of the Christian virtues that the apostle Paul sets forth in I Corinthians 13:13. Hope is faith directed toward the future.

Hope is used in two ways in the Bible. The less common usage points out the object of our hope. Christ is our hope of eternal life. The more common usage is as an attitude of assurance regarding the fulfillment of God’s promises. The Christian is called to hope, that is, to have full assurance of the resurrection of God’s people and the coming of God’s kingdom. Hope is inextricably bound up with eschatology.

Paul reminds Christians that until the kingdom comes in its fullness, believers can only have assured hope; they must “walk by faith, not by sight” (II Corinthians 5:7). This hope is neither unfounded nor groundless. Though the life of the Christian is marked more by suffering than triumph (I Corinthians 4:8-13; II Corinthians 4:7-18), the foundation for hope is in the Godhead.

First, the believer looks upon the death and resurrection of Christ. His death was the darkest hour for His disciples. The promised Messiah was dead, His kingdom apparently lost. With the Resurrection, that despair turned to hope. Alongside suffering, whether great or small, the Christian’s hope must endure. God is always sufficient and faithful.

Second, the believer has the Holy Spirit as a down payment on the kingdom (Ephesians 1:13-14). His presence assures us that the kingdom will be fully consummated. The Spirit is not only a sign toward hope, but the sustainer of hope. He fulfills the role of Comforter, girding up the believer in strength and hope. It is the Spirit that encourages the believer to pray to the Father, “Your kingdom come.”

THE WORD OF GOD: SCRIPTURE AS REVELATION

Christianity is the true worship and service of the true God, mankind’s Creator and Redeemer. It is a religion that rests on revelation: nobody would know the truth about God, nor be able to relate to Him in a personal way, had God not first acted to make Himself known. But God has so acted, with the sixty-six books of the Bible . . .

THE SACRAMENTS

Christ instituted two rights for His followers to observe: baptism, a once-for-all rite of initiation (Matt. 28:19; Gal. 3:27), and the Lord's Supper, a regular rite of remembrance (1 Cor. 11:23-26). These are called "sacraments" in the Western church, "mysteries" in the Eastern Orthodox church, or "ordinances". Scripture has no technical term for the two rites, or the corresponding Old Testament observances, that is, circumcision of males as a rite of initiation (Gen. 17:9-14, 23-27) and the annual Passover as a rite of remembrance (Ex. 12:1-27). Biblical teaching, however, warrants classifying them all together as signs and seals of a covenant relationship with God.

"Sacrament" is from a Latin word meaning sacred. Study of the Christian rites (baptism and the Lord's Supper) themselves leads to a definition of sacrament as a ritual action instituted by Christ in which signs perceived by the senses present to us the grace of God in Christ and the blessings of His covenant. They communicate and confirm these blessings to believers, who in receiving the sacraments respond to God's grace and declare their faith and allegiance to Him. The sacraments "put a visible difference between those that belong unto the Church and the rest of the world." They solemnly "engage them (Christians) to the service of God in Christ, according to His Word" (Westminster Confession of Faith, XXVII.1) . . .

The sacraments are means of grace, for God uses them to strengthen faith's confidence in His promises and to call forth acts of faith for receiving the good gifts signified. The efficacy of the sacraments is not from the faith or virtue of the minister, but from the faithfulness of God, who, having given signs, is now pleased to use them. Christ and the apostles speak of the sign as if it were the thing signified, and as if receiving the former is the same as receiving the latter (Matt. 26:26-28; 1 Cor. 10:15-21; 1 Pet. 3:21, 22). As the preaching of the Word makes the gospel audible, so the sacraments make it visible.

Sacraments strengthen faith by correlating Christian beliefs with the testimony of our sense. The Heidelberg Catechism illustrates this in its answer to Question 75. The key words are "as sure as":

Christ has commanded me . . . to eat of this broken bread and to drink of this cup in memory of Him, and therewith has given assurance: first, that His body was . . . broken on the cross for me, and His blood shed for me, as sure as I see with my eyes the bread . . . broken for me and the cup communicated to me; and, further, that with His crucified body and shed blood He Himself feeds and nourishes my soul to eternal life, as sure as I take and taste the bread and cup . . . which are given me as sure tokens of the body and blood of Christ.

THE PERSEVERANCE AND PRESERVATION OF BELIEVERS

As the parable of the sower indicates (Mt. 13:18-23), there are different kinds of faith, but only faith that produces the fruit of holy living is saving faith. This is why the writer of Hebrews insisted that "without holiness, no one will see the Lord" (Heb. 12:14). Those with temporary faith may experience many blessings from God because of their close association with the faithful (Heb. 6:1-6; II Pet. 2:21-22), but they will lose those blessings as they turn from Christ and will eventually suffer eternal judgment (Heb. 10:26-31). Many who say to Jesus, "Lord, Lord," will not be acknowledged (Mt. 7:21-23). Only those who show themselves to be regenerate by pursuing holiness as they pass through this world are entitled to believe themselves secure in Christ. Persevering in faith and penitence, not just in Christian formalism, is the path to glory.

Nevertheless, Reformed theology has also emphasized that God's gracious preservation must sustain true believers so that they remain faithful to Christ. Christians do not begin their walk with Christ by faith and then continue by reliance on their own efforts (Gal. 3:3). Paul exhorted the Philippians to "work out [their] salvation" (Phil. 2:12) but then added "for it is God who works in you to will and to act according to his good purpose" (Phil. 2:13). Paul also assured them, declaring that "he who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion" (Phil. 1:6). Jesus himself stressed his preservation of true believers when he said that believers "shall never perish: no one can snatch them out of my hand" (Jn. 10:28).

Sometimes truly regenerate believers backslide and fall into gross sin. But in this they act out of character, do violence to their own new nature and make themselves deeply miserable, so that eventually they seek and find restoration to righteousness.

PRAYER

We are able to talk with God. He speaks verbally to us in his Word and nonverbally through His obvious providence. We commune with Him through prayer. Charles Hodge declared that "prayer is the converse of the soul with God." In and through prayer we express our reverence and adoration for God, we bare our souls in contrite confession before Him, we pour out the thanksgiving of grateful hearts, and we offer our petitions and supplications to Him.

In prayer we experience God as personal and powerful. He can hear us and act in response. The Scripture teaches both the sovereign foreordination of God and the efficacy of prayer. The two are not inconsistent with one another, for God ordains the means as well as the ends for His purposes.

JOHN CALVIN ON THE NECESSITY FOR REFORMING THE CHURCH
More than 450 years ago, a request came to John Calvin to write on the character of and need for reform in the Church. The circumstances were quite different from those that inspired other writings of Calvin, and enable us to see other dimensions of his defense of the Reformation. The Emperor Charles V was calling the Diet of the Holy Roman Empire to meet in the city of Speyer in 1544. Martin Bucer, the great reformer of Strassburg, appealed to Calvin to draft a statement of the doctrines of and necessity for the Reformation. The result was remarkable. Theodore Beza, Calvin’s friend and successor in Geneva, called The Necessity for Reforming the Church the most powerful work of his time . . .

... Calvin focuses on four topics, which he calls the soul and body of the church. The soul of the church is worship and salvation. The body is sacraments and church government. The great cause of reform for Calvin centers in these topics. The evils, remedies and necessity for prompt action all relate to worship, salvation, sacraments and church government.

... Proper worship is Calvin’s first concern.

WORSHIP
Calvin stresses the importance of worship because human beings so easily worship according to their own wisdom rather than God’s. He insists that worship must be regulated by the Word of God alone: “I know how difficult it is to persuade the world that God disapproves of all modes of worship not expressly sanctioned by His Word. The opposite persuasion which cleaves to them, being seated, as it were, in their very bones and marrow, is, that whatever they do has in itself a sufficient sanction, provided it exhibits some kind of zeal for the honour of God. But since God not only regards as fruitless, but also plainly abominates, whatever we undertake from zeal to His worship, if at variance with His command what do we gain by a contrary course? The words of God are clear and distinct, ‘Obedience is better than sacrifice.’” This conviction is one of the reasons that reform was required: “ . . . since . . . God in many passages forbids any new worship unsanctioned by his Word; since he declares that he is grievously offended with the presumption which invents such worship, and threatens it with severe punishment, it is clear that the reformation which we have introduced was demanded by a strong necessity.” . . .

For Calvin the worship of the medieval church had become “gross idolatry.” The issue of idolatry was for him as serious as the issue of works righteousness in justification. Both represented human wisdom replacing divine revelation. Both represented a pandering to human proclivities, rather than desiring to please and obey God . . .

The reformers, like the prophets of old, needed to attack the idolatry and the “external show” of the worship of their time. The antidote to the theatrics of the church in Calvin’s day was a godly simplicity of worship — as reflected in the order of service in the church of Geneva . . .

THE ORDINARY MEANS OF GRACE-BASED MINISTRY
“What exactly do you mean by ‘ordinary means of grace-based ministry?’” The “ordinary means of grace” are “the Word, sacraments, and prayer.” These are the ordinances given by God with which spiritual life is nurtured. By ordinances we mean spiritual instruments of grace and growth in grace appointed by God in the Bible. So, when we say ordinary means of grace-based ministry, we mean a ministry that focuses on doing the things God says are central to the spiritual health and growth of His people. The key things that the church can do to help people know God and grow in their knowledge of God are: (1) the public reading and preaching of the Word; (2) emphasize the confirming efficacy of the sacraments; and (3) emphasize a life of prayer. —The Rev. J. Ligon Duncan, III, Ph.D.
